Description

The TitanCase XL is a particularly spacious and high-quality aluminum case with generous dimensions of 45x35x15 cm, which impresses with its high functionality and versatility. The case consists of a sturdy aluminum frame and hard-wearing sides made of composite material, which makes it particularly robust yet lightweight. Inside there is a tool-free adjustable cube foam, which can be easily plucked and allows individual adjustment to your valuable contents. The TitanCase XL therefore offers optimum protection for a wide variety of items, whether as a tool case, drone case, pistol case or universal case. The combination lock provides additional security by preventing unauthorized access and protecting your belongings. Despite its large internal dimensions, the case remains light and compact, making it easy to transport and ideal for mobile applications. The elegant titanium gray gives the case a modern, professional look, while the high-quality finish ensures long-lasting use. The TitanCase XL is the perfect choice for anyone looking for a secure, flexible and robust storage solution.
