Description

The large "Foreman" tool bag is the ideal companion for any installer, maintenance or service technician. Thanks to the large number of tool holders and inside pockets, tools and work materials can be safely stowed away and transported to the workplace. This practical bag is made of tear-resistant, water-repellent Oxford 600D fabric and is indestructible in daily use.

The large main compartment has thirty pockets in the middle, twenty-four loops and twenty-one bit holders, making it possible to carry a complete tool kit. There are another three patch pockets and four additional slots on the outside. The large front pocket has another six compartments, three loops and 15 bit holders. There are also 2 large tool loops with snap hooks on the side of this universal tool bag.
